CHRISTIE®

▲ Christie diagram above outlines the type of Digital Signage Solution offerings presented by Christie (green) and Partners (blue).

1 Design it

Christie will review your proposed display environment and help you decide on the right mix of hardware, software, content and support for your signage network. Then, we'll help you find the products and services that meet your needs today and will grow with your business tomorrow.

4 Support it

Once your display network is up and running, the Christie Network Operations Center (NOC) can remotely monitor your displays and report on maintenance requirements before you're ever aware that there could be an issue. Our NOC features a 24/7 help desk for technical phone support. We can also come right to you for repairs, parts and maintenance. That means reduced downtime and reliable, round-the-clock support for your business.

2 Build it

There are a lot of choices out there. Projectors, panels, Christie® MicroTiles®, LCD, LED, mounting brackets, embedded operating systems, remote configuration, and storage options. Based on your requirements, Christie will work to create the digital signage network that's ideal for you.

3 Deploy it

The next phase is getting your digital signage application up and running, then making sure it stays that way. Our on-site service technicians will project manage the installation of the hardware and software you've chosen and test it to make sure it works just the way you intended it to. But the service doesn't end there.
